

BRICS-Boom: Kommt Afrikas große Allianz-Welle 2025 mit Kenia?

BRICS-Erweiterung 2025: Afrika im Fokus. Mehr Länder zeigen Interesse. Äthiopien, Ägypten jüngst beigetreten.

Zimbabwe, Africa - Explosive News from the BRICS Front! In the run-up to 2025, whispers and negotiations are swirling over the potential expansion of the BRICS alliance. Currently counting nine members, this influential bloc is eyeing an African boost. You've got it right—Africa's sprawling 54 countries are keen to hop on the BRICS train! Former Ethiopian Speaker Agegnehu Teshager let the cat out of the bag this summer, unveiling Africa's hunger to join this powerhouse club. All eyes are on Zimbabwe, already in cahoots with China, as BRICS tempts Africa with dreams of economic revitalization and currency stability.

Rumors are hot that Kenya, under President William Ruto's banner, is enthusiastic about joining, following in the footsteps of Ethiopia and Egypt. Expert Aly Khan Satchu from Kenya is calling BRICS a 'lodestar' for these rapidly mobilizing nations. His view? Joining BRICS is like winning the economic lottery! With promises to break free from the dollar's hold and dilute Bretton Woods' grip, African countries see a golden ticket in trading through local currencies.

With the stage set, could 2025 be the year Africa joins the BRICS revolution? Watch this space! The stakes are high, the anticipation is electric. For more on this unfolding drama, check out the full story at watcher.guru.
